FEARFUL HUMOR COVERED FACE—RESINOL CURED

Itchy, Covered With Pimples and Moths Unusually, Instantly Relieved.

PATERSON, N. J., Dec. 9, 1913: "About a year ago my face began to crack and get so dry in places. It soon got worse and my face was all spotted and rough, and it itched me very much at night, and caused me no end of discomfort. After a month or so, pimples and blackheads began to show, first in small numbers and then gradually covering the entire face. It was awful. The pimples were so bad and the rash was so itchy, and my face had a most unsightly appearance. I tried different kinds of soaps, creams and ointments, and also a strict diet, but I could get no relief. Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment caused me instant relief. By the time another jar of Resinol Ointment was used, my face was all clear. I am a complete cure. My face had assumed its former color and looks due to Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. They are, I think, the best for my skin trouble." (Signed) Robert Troyano, 269 East St. St.

Resinol Soap and Ointment heal eczema and other skin eruptions, stop itching instantly, and are most valuable for pimples, dandruff, sores, burns, boils, piles, etc. For trial size, free, write to Resinol Dept., S. K. Baltimore, Md. A few unscrupulous dealers try to sell substitutes for Resinol. Look out for them.—(Adv.)

criticisms of initial performance at the box office of the new play, "The Green Beetle," all other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater management.

The Forsyth's bill this week is one of excellence. It contains all the merit and quality to make a good vaudeville entertainment. "The Green Beetle" is the headline feature, and a better selection of more unusual nature has never topped a bill. Little Max West is a hit in the singing, dancing and conversational number, and the other acts are of the variety that please.

Next week's headline will be Valerie Berger and company in "The Bowery." Valerie Berger and her company will be a big feature, and several new acts are promised by the trio. Five other offerings will make up the bill.

The new bill of Junior Keith vaudeville that opened with a matinee performance yesterday afternoon at the Grand is better balanced than the previous bill and if one may judge by the applause that greeted the different acts it is going to prove a stronger drawing card. Harry and May Appel, in a re-staging of their dancing specialties, open the show; Quigg and Nickerson, in a comedy number, follow, and then works in blackface furnishing the comedy, their playing on various musical instruments was greeted with applause and the comedy created much laughter; the Murray boys then came on a man and two attractive young women, were followed by a comedy number, and make very generally and were one of the features.

They carry a special drop for two of their numbers. "Noodles" Fahs, comedian, was greeted with applause, and "Noodles" offered a new specialty, the Murray boys then came on a man and two attractive young women, were followed by a comedy number, and make very generally and were one of the features.

ATLANTA PUBLIC SCHOOLS ARE REORGANIZED BY SCHOOL BOARD

Normal Training School to Be Detached From Girls' High and Attached to One of the Grammar Schools

The resolutions introduced in the board of education some weeks ago by Major R. J. Guinn, member of the board from the Ninth ward, and referred at his request to a committee of the board to be thoroughly considered, were unanimously adopted by the board Thursday afternoon without opposition from a single member of the board or the superintendent.

These resolutions involve a fundamental reorganization of Atlanta's system of public education and constitute the most important action taken by the board of education in recent years.

The resolutions are three in number, and were adopted in the following order:

First, a resolution providing that the normal school for training teachers be detached from the Girls' High school and attached to a grammar school, to allow the normal students an opportunity of observing teaching as they work in the grammar grades, which will give them practical training.

Second, a resolution providing for the unit system in the high schools of the city, the hours of work to be extended, and the students to be given the option of taking the full number of units to meet college entrance requirements or of taking only such units as they may select in the event they do not intend to enter college.

Third, a resolution providing for the number of pupils in a grade to be limited to forty, that the course of study be revised to complete in eight years, and that the school district lines be changed to derive the maximum utility from the city's present school houses.

The details of working out each and every one of these changes are left to the superintendent, his assistant and the various principals and teachers who will be directly affected.

The resolutions came back to the board from the committee on schools and teachers, to which they were previously referred, with a favorable report.

RESOLUTIONS EXPLAINED.

They were introduced one at a time, and after the reading of each resolution Major Guinn made a brief statement of the reasons why it should be adopted.

The most important resolution came last, as observed from reading above. Major Guinn said he would like to hear from Superintendent Slaton on this resolution especially. Mr. Slaton said he had sent a list of questions covering all the points embodied in all the resolutions to thirty-two school superintendents of national reputation.

He said the replies coincided with his belief that the usual eight years' work of the grammar schools can be done in seven years by a proper overhauling of the curriculum.

"I emphatically believe that it can be done," said Mr. Slaton. "If this plan is put in operation, I shall give it my heartiest support, officially, morally and intellectually."

WHAT RESOLUTION MEANS.

In as much as the third resolution involves more than appears in the above condensed statement of its provisions, a somewhat more detailed outline is given here.

In the first place, the total enrollment of the public schools as compared to the total capacity of all the school houses, shows that there is room for all the pupils if they were properly distributed. In other words, some schools are overcrowded while others are not full, and some grades are overcrowded while others are below capacity.

The overcrowding is mainly in the lower grades, because the smaller children are in the majority. As the grades advance, the proportionate enrollment decreases, until in the high schools the total enrollment is only three-fourths of the total capacity of the grammar schools.

The Guinn resolution contemplates a rearrangement of school district lines in such a way as to fill the upper grammar grades. This will transfer some children to other schools and the result will be to make more room for the primary grades.

To accomplish in seven years the grammar school work that is now done in eight years, will save one year in the lives of the school children of the community. This will be an enormous contribution to the community's wealth. That it can be done has been demonstrated in public schools throughout the country.

But before it can be done, it is first necessary to limit the number of pupils under one teacher to forty, so that the teacher can give individual attention to each pupil. Statutes agree that no teacher can do efficient work with more than forty pupils. Many teachers in Atlanta schools now have as many as sixty.

BUYING SCHOOL BOOKS.

That the city of Atlanta buy school books for use in the city public schools directly from the publishers, and resell them to the pupils at actual cost, plus freight charges, was the proposition advanced in the board of education Thursday afternoon by Mayor Woodward and supported by James L. Key.

What led up to the proposition was a request to the board by the book dealers of Atlanta that the board insist on the publishers giving the book dealers not less than 15 and 20 percent discounts off the retail prices. The book dealers claimed they would lose money on discounts less than these, and that these discounts just covered their expense of doing business for so long.

Mr. J. Guinn, A. P. Morgan, W. M. Terrell, James L. Key and Mayor Woodward were opposed to the book dealers' action, which would be tantamount to fixing the book dealers' discount on a condition upon the selection of any text books. They contended that the board should secure the best quality of the various text books offered and let the course of study for the next five years on this basis alone, and not the question of discounts to the book dealers was a question to be threshed out between them, the board having nothing to do with it.

Mayor Woodward expressed the opinion that the city, by buying all the books on one order, could secure a much larger discount than the book dealers, and could then resell to the pupils at actual cost.

No action was taken because the course of study to be selected must await the working out of the details of the third Guinn resolution.

Quaker Herb Extract Giving Results. Mrs. R. H. Nix Tells

How She Was Cured of Stomach Trouble.

If the cures of people published in this paper were really true, then Quaker Herb Extract must indeed be a wonderful remedy. There were cures of rheumatism, catarrh, kidney, liver and stomach trouble reported by people who live in this city. Their names and addresses were given so that it was an easy matter to ascertain whether the published reports were really genuine or not. Everybody was asked to investigate. The result was therefore overwhelming and undeniable. These people were actually cured, by Quaker Herb Extract and Oil of Balm after many other remedies had failed. Now if you suffer from any of the aforementioned complaints will not Quaker Herb Extract and Oil of Balm cure you also? Is it not worth a trial? The price is moderate, the remedies can be had, results must be quick and you can call at Coursey & Munn's Drug Store at all hours to tell you anything you wish to know about the remedies. If, therefore, you are still hesitating, come and have all your doubts explained. If the cures already published have not yet convinced you, come to Coursey & Munn's Drug

Store and spend a little time listening to the reports of the people who are taking the remedies. Mrs. R. H. Nix, of 139 South Avenue, said: "I had a case of stomach trouble a long time. I have taken several bottles of Quaker Herb Extract and I can now gladly say that Quaker Herb Extract has completely cured me. I was advised by several to have an operation, but this medicine has accomplished the results I desired." This wonderful Quaker Herb Extract, $1.00 per bottle, 3 for $2.50, or 6 for $5.00. Oil of Balm 25c or 5 for $1.00. Call today at Coursey & Munn's Drug Store, 29 Marietta street, and obtain these remedies. We prepare express charges on all orders of $3.00 or over. (Adv.)

OUR ASTROLOGER

"The stars incline, but do not compel!"
HOROSCOPE FOR SATURDAY, APRIL 25, 1914.

The lunation on this date occurs with the planets in places said by astrologers to be rather favorable. The signs are read as indicating better conditions for railroads and increased income from postoffice revenues.

An improvement in whatever concerns newspapers and periodicals is predicted. There are to be expansion in circulation and increase in advertising for those that lead. Literary matters of all sorts are subject to beneficent rule. The summer will be a propitious time for new novels, the seers declare.

The stars promise rather bad conditions of health during the summer. Illness of persons in public life will be alarming, for there will be an increase in the number of deaths among prominent men and women.

Mars and Neptune are in a position indicating increase of strange crimes and unusual scandals.

Local astrology prophecies anxiety for the president of the United States during the last eight days of July. This will be due to relations with a foreign power which has great naval strength.

Excitement about the Orient is foretold as a possibility of the summer, which probably will bring many world considerations of great moment to the consideration of the public.

Today's stars mingle good and bad influences. Early in the morning Jupiter is in beneficent aspect and in the evening Venus is in a place read as good, but Uranus is evilly disposed and the Sun holds doubtful sway.

While Venus promises fortunate experiences for women, especially in their association with bankers and all persons who should be cautious, reserved and non-committal in all affairs. Engagements and contracts of every sort should be delayed.

Fashion Fads

Striped and plain linings are as popular as flowered linings.

White chiffon collars, beaded in vivid colors are a new feature.

Guimpes can now be bought with vests of crepe de chine.

Widths of platted silk are draped to form panniers on afternoon gowns.

A high rhinestone comb is used to make the coiffure attractive.

Little aprons of net or silver, gold or aluminum linings, closely wrought with jeweled embroidery, appear on some of the newest evening frocks.

Evening aprons of brocade, with beautiful jeweled buckles, are in great vogue.

Pretty little evening mantelets are making their appearance in all colors and kinds and are replacing scarves.

One of the new trimmings on soft shot or plain taffeta dresses for afternoon wear consists of narrow borders of tiny chalk or crystal pearls in quaint Russian or other barbaric designs, outlining the corsage folding, the edge of the tunic or the elongated pleats of the lightly draped panniers.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

By Thornton W. Burgess

Such a funny time as there was in the Green Forest that beautiful bright morning. All, or nearly all, the little people who war fur went about with their heads up until you would have thought that their necks would have ached. Perhaps they did, but no one seemed to care. Only Jimmy Skunk and Prickly Porky the Porcupine. Just about their business just as usual. When they met their neighbors gazing up to the trees they would laugh and say to themselves: "How foolish!"

Reddy Wanted to Know what It Was.

What did it all mean? Why, just this: Everybody was hunting for the storehouse of Busy Bear. Yes, sir, that is just what everybody but Prickly Porky and Jimmy Skunk was doing.

And the funny part is that not a word of any one else to know what he was doing, yet everybody knew. You see, it was this way: Buster Bear, who had come to live in the Green Forest, is very, very fond of honey. Buster is so big and has such great, cruel looking claws and such long, sharp teeth, and such a deep, fierce growling roar, that nearly all the little people who live in the Green Forest, or sometimes came up from the Green Meadows to visit there, were afraid of him.

Jimmy Skunk wasn't. You know, Jimmy Skunk isn't afraid of anything. "Prickly Porky wasn't." He came from the same part of the country as Buster Bear, and he had long ago taught Buster to have very great respect for the storehouse of Busy Bear.

Now it happens that Buster Bear was afraid of Reddy for a terrible scare when Reddy was trying to catch Jimmy the hare, and Jimmy had wished that he could do something in return for Buster Bear.

Buster had asked Jimmy to keep his eyes open for the storehouse of Busy Bear, for he was very, very hungry for some honey, and Jimmy had promised that he would do so.

Jimmy had found it, and he had told Buster. But now that he had found it, he was afraid to tell Buster. He was afraid that Buster would be angry with him for not finding it.

Jimmy had found it, and he had told Buster. But now that he had found it, he was afraid to tell Buster. He was afraid that Buster would be angry with him for not finding it.

What Anne Rittenhouse Says

What Have Algorettes to Do With Ostriches? A Good Deal.

PARIS.—And the American has the ostrich, the algorette, the paradise feather, influence the present fashion for the plumage of the ostrich? Something did. It is not only used by the milliners but by the dressmakers.

The idea had its birth last summer in yellow chiffon gowns made by Doucet which had a wired minaret tunic finished with a tulle of exquisite blue and curled ostrich feathers.

The Japanese had been also wired to match the minaret tunic, and here again were the feathers.

The idea was treated as though it were a fantasy. It was not taken seriously by anyone, but one gets used to this experience and is quite prepared to see a negligent fashion become a dominant one.

This spring, or rather this February, Madame Fassin gave a gown with ostrich feather trimming and she was followed by others who saw in it quite an attractive idea for finishing the edges of their gowns. But a costly way one would say, but novel and graceful.

It is not really believed that this fashion will have a strong following. Here and there in the circles of fashion, we have returned to the method of our early ancestors and arrayed ourselves in the plumage of birds as well as the skins of beasts, but somehow the fashion did not hold.

New Ways With Feathers. There are coming a wide variety of ways of using feathers. The novelty does not only lie with the dressmaker, but also with the milliners. Instead of putting an entire feather on a hat they will pull it entirely apart, and half curling the tendrils, they will spread them like the surface of a straw hat.

The idea is a good one and it helps the milliner to raise the price. She can talk with enthusiasm about the difficulty of separating the tendrils and the consequent loss of the feather.

The argument sounds well, but the ordinary hat buyer is a practical man. He knows that he must pay a terrible price for any hat today that bears a feather. He knows, and often, in America, it bears only that and nothing more.

The disgrace of false labels which has been steadily practiced in America for years is not in the least better. It is an uncovered. It is still done, for as late as last autumn one of the milliners of Paris bought in New York, at excellent prices, hats with his name on them that had never been nearer his workshop than 3,000 miles.

The French, knowing this, and being canny, bowed their heads to the American law and did not try to cover themselves with the ostrich feather in a dozen different ways. Often it is twisted and tortured, but it is far better to know that this happened to the feather than to the bird.

Collars of Ostrich Feathers. There is a race that has scarcely been by the way that she tries to cover them up. The newest invention is a light flat collar of ostrich. There is a foundation of mousseline on which is mounted one feather, the upper part of which is curled, and the lower part of which lies flat.

Jackets Off to Play Five Road Games—Meet Alabama Today

LITTLE PAL---THE WIDOW WAS THERE, TOO

—BY LEO

Jackets Off On Road Trip

Team Plays University of Alabama Today and Tomorrow, Miss. A. & M. Monday and Tuesday

The Yellowjackets' baseball team left last night for Tusculoo, Ala., where they will play the University of Alabama today and tomorrow. This is the first and only trip that the team will take this season. While on this trip they will go to Starkville, Miss., where they will play Mississippi A. & M. and Mechanical two games on Monday and Tuesday of next week. The first game with the Alabama team will be played Friday afternoon and a double-header will be played on Saturday. Only two games, however, will be played with Mississippi. The Tech team has been going very good since the battle with Vanderbilt. One practice game was played this week with the Alabama college. This was an easy victory for the local collegians and they hit the ball better in this game than they have before this season.

The team left Thursday night at 11:10 o'clock over the Southern to Birmingham and will reach Tusculoo Friday morning. Witherington, the catcher for the Jackets, had a bad sprain the early part of this week and in all probability Newsum will be used in these games. Witherington is not able to go the distance, Newsum will join the team later and will be able to catch the two games on Saturday. He is a good man and would hold down the job in first-class style. He has caught a great deal for the scrubs this season, and should be on to the thing pretty well. The men who went on the trip are: Witherington, catcher; Burr, first base; Tyler Montague, second base; Albert Hill, third; Wooten, short; Johnson, left field; Ed Montague, center; and Captain Pound, right. The pitchers who were taken are Pitts, Bryant, Jordan, Garlington and Bubanka.

Amateur Teams Start Season

Amateur baseball will get started Saturday afternoon in earnest, when the big majority of the amateur teams in Atlanta play their first games. This year there are nine leagues composed of six teams each, and fifty-four teams will play amateur ball this summer in Atlanta. The prospects for a very bright and prosperous season are good, and some tight games should be developed in the leagues. Gate City, City, Mining Commercial, Park Road, Saturday Afternoon, Sunday School, Baraka, Cosmopolitan and Junior Sunday School leagues are the ones that are formed so far. Enough teams to form at least three more leagues have applied for franchises this season, and were not given berths on account of the lack of grounds. The Park Road and the City league are the ones that will play their initial games Saturday. The Park Road and Morning Commercial leagues have already started, and with the exception of the Gate City league, the others will commence their season on May 2, which is Saturday week.

THE SPORTLIGHT BY GRANTLAND RICE

Apparently, Branch Rickey is no respecter of tradition. The customs, laws and regulations of his country mean less than nothing to him. The season is now over a week old and the Browns are nowhere near last place.

For that matter, the soft spots in the American league have about vanished. The Yanks, like the Browns, are nothing like the same people a year ago trailed the procession after the manner of a fat poodle pursuing a meat wagon.

JOHNSON'S HOPE. Walter Johnson has an earnest and highly proper desire to establish among others, another pitching record. In the history of baseball no slaban has ever worked over forty games and allowed an average of less than a run per game to the entire string.

Last season Johnson permitted 1.09 runs each start in something like forty-seven games. This season he expects to top off the .09, and possibly another point. If he does, it will be a record that was never approached. He has a fair start with one tally recorded in two games.

A TIP TO C. EVANS. Before Chick Evans sails to the other side of the justly celebrated Atlantic, some earnest friend should get him off to one side and impart some useful advice about not playing himself into stalemates.

Chick's love for golf is so great that once in sight of a golf course he can't restrain himself. Nothing but an early start and a late finish will satisfy him. The result is that often he is over-golfed before the first tournament blow is struck, and badly stale before the week is half gone.

THE TIP OF OLD ADAGES. "Lighting," announces an old adage, "never strikes twice in the same place." On the other paw, to our certain knowledge, it has struck Cleveland fourteen years in succession, and always with a deadly wallop applied to a highly vulnerable spot. The more you wriggle, the tighter it sticks.

WHY IT WAS THUS. President Wilson has a ready explanation for his act in dispatching certain warships to Mexico and leaving the German navy anchored in Pittsburgh. He only desired the subjugation of the Huerta regime, not its complete annihilation. Once the Flying Dutchman begins to sail amuck he is liable to tear a nation wide open and Mexico has troubles enough without toppling into Wagner's crushing mitt.

ONE WAY OUT. "If President Wilson has Huerta captured," queries an exchange in its editorial turret, "what will he do with him?" Our tip would be to give him a baseball, put him on third base and instruct him to block Ty Cobb. The debris could then be swept off under the grandstand.

AN EASY GUESS. "It isn't raining rain to me," said little Johnny Veddars; "It isn't raining rain to me," said little Johnny Veddars; "It's raining doubleheaders."

Which shows that Johnny Veddars, When he smiled at this here gibber, Among a lot of other things, Was not a baseball scribe.

Mr. Mack was just on the verge of having his club shot to pieces like the Phillies when the old habit returned in the Red Sox doubleheader. Another day or two of defeat and he would have insisted upon a Fed raid.

THE MEXICAN SITUATION. You may not get much credit For speaking a similar story, But what the deuce are you going to do When he swings one on your eye?

While Manager Griffith is confident of winning the A. L. pennant and substituting Walter Johnson for Frank Baker next fall, he admitted to day that he would take no legal steps to restrain any of Connie's club if they desired to enlist and help invade Mexico.

Willard and Boer Arrive Today

George "Boer" Rodol, Australian heavyweight champion, and Jesse Willard, the giant cowboy, are expected to arrive in Atlanta some time today. Rodol is coming from New York, while Willard "shipped" from Chicago. The pair hook up in a ten-round bout at the Orpheum theater next Tuesday night.

The big fellows are not going to box alone for what money they will get out of Tuesday night's bout, but for the chance to meet Gunboat Smith here during Shriners' week. Promoter Castro and Jim Buckley, manager of Smith, have practically reached terms. Buckley first asked $5,000 but Castro made him a counter offer of $2,500. It is likely that $2,000 and expenses will be the amount paid for the white champion's services.

Smith has fought both Willard and Rodol. The result of the Willard-Smith bout was considered a draw, some of the New York papers giving it to Gunboat, while many called it even, and one or two gave it to the cowboy. Rodol, however, despite the fact that he was floored three times in the fourth round, won a clear-cut decision. Since that engagement Rodol's manager, Jimmy Johnston, has offered Smith all kinds of inducements to meet the Boer over a longer route. Jim Coffroth, the San Francisco promoter who has staged more championship battles than any other living man, has been after this match for a long time.

However, to date, Smith has "tailed" off Rodol. But the Gunboat will have to meet Rodol and it will be right here in Atlanta during the big May convention, in case the Boer defeats Willard on Tuesday night. And, of course, the same goes for the cowboy in case he is returned the victor.

Both Rodol and Willard have agreed that Lou Castro shall be the third man in the ring. Other referees were mentioned but it was figured out that he will need a big, husky gentleman to handle the heavyweights, and Castro, being an experienced "bouncer" ought to be just the right person.

FULLERTON'S GOSSIP

The Scotch theory that it takes three generations and a lifetime of playing to make a good golfer will be considerably shocked when Francis Outmet, a high school boy, and two Wattoon, aged nineteen, step up to tee off for America and Australia at Sandwich.

That pink of condition that about 750 ball players brought forth with them in fading and the yellow is showing in some spots.

There's another team for us to root for—Scranton, Pa. Bill Conklin has been made its manager.

Lafayette has suspended forty-six soph for hazing a freshman. Pretty soon it will be a misdemeanor for a college man to assault a policeman.

SAYINGS YOU MAY NOT KNOW. Gamblers are good character readers; successful gamblers are good readers of lack of character.—Charles Sherlock.

Evidently the reason Ohio state was admitted to the conference was to get some team in that Indiana can beat.

Empire Stockdale is the first recruit for the Fence Climbers this season. It happened at St. Joe.

An alibi may be a good thing, but no one looks for it in the standing of the clubs.

One of those fellows who can't be convinced of anything until he has been licked isn't worth licking.—Kid Gleason.

Publicity is a grand thing, but the attendance figures printed do not add much to the paid admission report.

Judge Kennesaw Landis occupies the most enviable position in the world, to engage in a baseball argument and then send the other fellow to jail for trying to influence the court.

Although Colonel Orville H. Hall, of the Fifth regiment, national guard of Georgia, of Atlanta, has received no direct orders from Washington in connection with the Mexican situation, he is making steps to recruit the regiment to full strength so as to be in readiness for service should the government require for the national guard to mobilize. Colonel Hall has directed Captain Don Winn, of the regimental staff and a recruiting officer, to recruit seventeen companies for the regimental headquarters department, as follows: Nine mounted orderlies, one saddler, one farrier, two horse

U. S. C. WANTS MEN
The local recruiting office of the United States Marine Corps received orders this morning from Washington to disregard all quotas and enlist as many men as it can get, with no special requirements for age or education required to conform.

Quotas for various recruiting districts are limited to a certain quota per month, so as not to exceed the authorized strength of the marine corps.

But in the present Mexican trouble the United States government has decided to beget the combination sea and land service to be performed, and it is evident that the government will go beyond the limits of the marine corps.

Especially is the government anxious to enlist men who have previously been discharged from the marine corps, for their enlistment and are given honorable discharges are classed under three categories.

Primarily the marine corps will not enlist ex-service men whose discharge was for dishonorable reasons.

Secondly, ex-service men, regardless of the reason for their discharge, will be accepted, of course, he passed the examination.

Army and navy have received no special orders. They have received a number of applicants who want to volunteer for service in Mexico, but these are not accepted, as there has been no call for volunteers.
